

International Flash Fiction Competition: Rules and Regulations

1. This competition is open to all students registered at the Université Catholique de Lille or one of its partner universities for the academic year 2021-22.
2. All participants should write in a language other than their native language (it is possible to enter texts in two different languages)
3. The languages for this competition are English, French, German and Spanish.
4. Participants should submit an original story or poem of 200 to 500 words on the theme "Tomorrow's World".
5. Participants should write their full name, university, native language and email address at the top of their entry and the number of words at the end.
6. The student who wishes to participate should send their text between 15 October 2021 and 15 March 2022 to the email address: flashfiction@univ-catholille.fr
7. A long list, based on the quality of the language, will be compiled for the jury.
8. The number of winning entries in each language will be proportional to the number of texts received, but will be at least three and at most twelve.
9. The names of the winners will be announced in a hybrid ceremony on 7 June 2022 at 6pm (French time).
10. The winning stories for each language will be published in paper form and online together with stories from guest authors. All winning students will receive a copy of the book.
